

Customer question · "We have a cat. Can we still use scented products at home?"

Answer it on the product page, before the customer has to ask.

A human reviewer reads your product and writes down whether it can be used in a home with pets, and what to keep in mind, for adults, dogs and cats. You get reply copy for your support team, a product-page card and a public QR record.

What you receive one report, shared across your team

- 1 Review report founder · QA
Conclusion and use conditions for adults, dogs and cats; when to re-review
- 2 Evidence table founder · QA
Which sources each conclusion rests on, and what is still missing
- 3 Marketplace document check sales ops
What is missing from the paperwork for one marketplace you sell on
- 4 Customer-service reply and product-page copy CS · e-commerce
A reply you can send to pet-owning customers as is, plus the phrases to avoid
- 5 60-minute walkthrough and one revision together
One results session, one round of factual or wording fixes

Who reviews. AI gathers the evidence; research lead Yoon Da-young (CTO; B.S. Biotechnology, Konkuk Univ.; M.S. Materials Engineering, Seoul National Univ.; Ph.D. coursework completed, KU-KIST Convergence, Korea Univ.) confirms every conclusion and signs the report by name.

Live today. Public review records for a Korean dermocosmetic brand's products are open at andoe.app/records. Scan the QR on the seal and the record opens on the customer's phone.

Ask us: contact@hamkke.net · andoe.app/sx · Send your company name and one product name and we will reply with the review scope, the files we need and a quote. A sample report (PDF) is available on request.

Not a regulatory certification or a safety approval. A paid review record commissioned by the brand; it does not guarantee listing or sales. Public records are published only after the research lead's decision, the brand's written consent and our final approval, and always state that the record was commissioned.
